Laura Cooper of Fasken named as one of 2018's Top 25 Women in Litigation by Benchmark Litigation

Benchmark Litigation has recognized Laura Cooper as one of the Top 25 Women in Litigation in its annual Top 25 Women in Litigation publication. Cooper is an Ontario-based litigator with Fasken.

The Top 25 Women in Litigation publication's extensive research process, which encompasses six months of investigation into the individual litigators' professional activities as well as client feedback surveys and individual interviews, has culminated in the selection of the most distinguished women in the world of litigation. These women have earned their place amongst the leading female litigators by participating in some of the most impactful litigation matters in recent history as well as by earning the hard-won respect of their peers and clients. Though they hail from widely different practice areas, they all share the distinction of being recognized as top players in their respective fields.

Listed in the Canada section of the Top 25 Women in Litigation publication, Benchmark Litigation has this to say about Cooper:

In the firm's Toronto office, Laura Cooper earns particular recognition for her leadership status in the class actions capacity. Among her many recent appointments, Cooper is defending Equifax in a privacy class action relating to a cybersecurity incident that allegedly impacted the private personal information of approximately 20,000 Canadian consumers.

Attorneys named to the 2018 publication were chosen through several phases of research: namely, the review of their recent case work, peer review in which we consider how attorneys at peer legal institutions might rank them, and a consideration of client feedback on their performances.

In addition to this honor, Fasken also enjoys a number of firm-wide rankings and further individual attorney recognition by Benchmark Canada. For more information please see here:
